1. Due to the recent drought, the Albanian cereal harvest will supply the country for only three months, instead of the usual six to seven months under normal conditions.
2. The trade agreement with Rumania signed in December 1950 provides for the importation of Rumanian cereals in exchange for hides and wool. These cereals are destined for the civilian population, while the USSR will continue to supply cereals for the Army.
3. In December four USSR and two Rumanian ships arrived in Durres. Two ships, one of 10,000 tons, discharged cereal cargoes destined for the civilian population and the military.
